

Turning Administrator Dislike Into Like

(A.K.A. Why Teachers Hate Administrators)

By Susan Stoya

Director of Secondary Instruction

Greater Amsterdam School District

Overview

I What causes teachers to become distrustful, discontent, or disinterested and how might administrators inadvertently cause these reactions?

II Why do administrators make these missteps?

III What have I learned as an administrator from making these missteps?

IV What can a Board of Education do to foster strong, positive relationships between administrators and teachers?