LOCATION: America Hall I, New York Hilton Midtown, New York City

12:30 – 1:00 p.m.      REGISTRATION

1:00 – 2:15 p.m.      SESSION 1 – Social Media Crisis Communications

Social media has added a new dimension to crisis communications, enabling live video streams, photos and regular updates in real time as the crisis unfolds. Your community will use social media to get the latest information, ask questions and offer comments during a crisis.

Immerse yourself in a tabletop crisis drill where communication occurs at a rapid pace on multiple social media platforms.

Discuss what your school – and you as a school leader – should be doing on social media during a crisis with seasoned social media professionals from New York City public relations agencies.

Hear a firsthand account from the superintendent of the Newtown, Connecticut school district at the time of the Sandy Hook shooting on how to lead and communicate when the unthinkable happens.

Speakers:

Stephanie Abrams, Co-Founder and Co-CEO, Socialfly Digital Marketing and Public Relations

2:30 – 4:00 p.m.      SESSION 2 – Staying Cool During Public Comment Periods

Has your public comment period ever turned into a public venting session?

Public comment periods allow your board to get valuable input from the community on issues facing your district. But when controversy erupts, the discussion can turn disrespectful.

How should you act when you are subject to withering public criticism, anger or personal attacks?

Learn communication strategies for keeping your cool and maintaining decorum at your board meeting when members of the community turn up the heat. Hear from a debate coach and psychologist on how to defuse tensions and maintain professionalism.
