BUILDING A STRONG RELATIONSHIP WITH YOUR NEW SUPERINTENDENT

Whether your superintendent is brand new or brings experience from another school district, your district will benefit when the board and superintendent lead as a united team – each from your respective roles, with mutual trust and collaboration – for student success.

Let NYSSBA help with a new series of custom board retreats. Choose from an array of topics, including:

- Reviewing the district vision/mission, core beliefs and goals
- Identifying board and superintendent roles, protocols and procedures
- Actions of effective board members and superintendents
- Establishing district goals and performance expectations
- Expectations of both effective boards and superintendents
- Evaluating the board and superintendent
- Identifying professional development opportunities for both the superintendent and board

“Effective school boards lead as a united team with the superintendent, each from their respective roles, with strong collaboration and mutual trust.”
